

TREATMENT Horse Rugs

MIRoTEC Treatment Horse Rugs help treat:

- Sore backs, cold backed horses, horses with arthritis, sacroiliac injuries or muscle strain and to prevent tying up
- Treatment Rugs are very beneficial when used as part of your warm-up /cool-down regime - without expending any extra energy!

Treatment Horse Rugs have two internal, removable panels for targeted heat treatment regulation. The front panel is designed to treat the saddle and wither area and the rear panel treats hindquarters and the sacroiliac area.

Treatment Horse Rugs may be used for transport ensuring your horse arrives warmed-up and ready for exercise during training or competition ensuring that it arrives fit, happy, warmed-up and ready to go.

MIRoTEC Treatment products are used by leading competition trainers and riders for all types of competitive events pre- and post-exercise.

MIRoTEC products assist in the treatment of back, shoulder and tendon injuries, muscle strains and spasms, shin soreness, arthritic joints and knees that suffer from concussion from hard going. Our Treatment Rugs also helps prevent tying-up and increase detoxification, improving recovery time after strenuous exercise.

MIRoTEC - Award Winning Space Blanket Technology

- Reflecting 'Infra-Red Radiation' (Body Heat)
- Increasing Tissue Temperature, Improving Blood Circulation

Infra Red Radiation (Body Heat) is Reflected

MIRoTEC utilises a micro-perforated, metallised reflective material. This reflects natural infra-red radiation and heat, boosting blood circulation whilst allowing water vapour and moisture to pass through the foil. Using the horse's natural heat will increase tissue temperature, cause blood vessel dilation and increase the local circulation which aids the delivery of needed tissue nutrients and the removal of tissue waste products and toxins promoting physical performance and provide effective prevention and treatment of injuries.
